Robbie Brint, 74-year-old blind resident of Spring Hill, died in a local hospital yesterday from injuries suffered earlier in the day when he was accidentally run over by an automobile driven by his sister-in-law, Mrs. O. O. Brint. Mrs. Brint was backing the car out of a garage and failed to see the aged blind man. He was rushed to a local hospital where he died a few hours later.

Herter in Line for Policy Coordinator

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts was in line today to become the Eisenhower administration's chief policy coordinator, Vice President Nixon had been considered for the job.

Herter, scheduled to succeed Herbert Hoover Jr. as undersecretary of state this week, is expected to replace Hoover also as chairman of the Operations Coordinating Board.

In this role, he would see that government departments followed presidential policies and directives weren't sabotaged down the line.

President Eisenhower is reportedly to have decided against moving Nixon into the OCB chairman's job because too much detailed work is involved. He reportedly plans to use Nixon instead on special, specific policy missions at home and abroad.

Eisenhower's decision was reported to have been made in advance of the newest Herter-Nixon controversy stirred up by Harold S. Stassen.

Stassen staged a one-man campaign last August to replace Nixon but dropped it after a conference with Eisenhower at the GOP nominating convention. Herter placed Nixon's name in nomination at the convention.

100 County Fires Burn 1,434 Acres

During the calendar year 1956, the Arkansas State Forestry Commission suppressed 4,175 forest fires in the state of Arkansas.

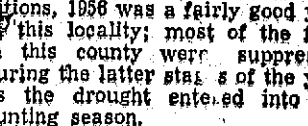

These fires burned over a total of 58,602 acres, which for the most part were on lands of private individuals. Of the above totals, 100 of the fires were in Hempstead county, and they caused a loss of 1,434 acres in our woodlands. By actual tabulation, 99 percent of the above listed fires were man caused and therefore could have been prevented. Forest fires may be caused by the following means: lightning, railroads, lumbering operations, camp fires, hunters, incendiaries (for purposes) debris burning, smokers, and miscellaneous causes such as fires resulting from houses burning in wooded areas, etc.

As can be seen, only one of the above listed causes is not directly related to man's actions, and is the only one of all the varied causes which could not be prevented.

On the average however, due to the extremely dry weather conditions, 1956 was a fairly good year for this locality; most of the fires in this county were suppressed during the latter stages of the year as the drought entered into the hunting season.

Year after year carelessness causes the loss of thousands of acres of our fine timber lands which are swiftly becoming more valuable. It is up to us, as individuals, to conquer the forest fire in this county, for without the co-operation of everybody, we stand to continue to allow several thousands of dollars to go up in smoke yearly.

Physician Restores Woman's Heartbeat

CINCINNATI (UP) — A physician said last night he restored the heart beat of a woman by pounding on her chest with his fingers. The doctor, who declined use of his name, said the woman's heart stopped beating while she was waiting in line in a restaurant. The woman, Mrs. Ethel Otting of nearby Madeira, was rushed to Jewish Hospital where aides said she is "responding to treatment."

Indictment of 3 Lithuanians Is Sought

NEW YORK (UP) — Federal attorneys go before a special grand jury today to seek indictment of three former Lithuanians on charges of espionage — possibly under a law calling for capital punishment.

Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., chief assistant United States attorney, is expected to begin presenting evidence against Jack Soble, 53, his wife Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 65, after a 23-member jury is impaneled before federal Judge Sidney A. Sugerman.

The Sobles and Albam, all residents of New York City, were arrested Friday and accused of conspiring to obtain U. S. secrets for delivery to the Soviet Union and of failing to register as Soviet agents.

The first charge is punishable upon conviction by ten years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both, and the second, by five years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

It was learned today that the special branch of the Canadian Royal Mounted Police is checking the activities of the Sobles.

A police official said the Mounties "have been cooperating with the FBI in this particular case. Soble's older brother, Boris, and his sister, Anita live in Montreal. Jack Soble worked at a brush company, operated by his brother-in-law, Hessel Chasen, at St. Martin, near Montreal, in 1954.

Canadian Justice Minister Stuart Garson was to answer questions in the Commons today about the Canadian activities of the Sobles.

While the Sobles, who became naturalized Americans in 1941, and Albam, an applicant for anti-railroad papers were held in $100,000 bail each over the weekend U. S. Attorney Paul W. Williams announced he would confer with Department of Justice officials in Washington today about the possibility of seeking the defendants' indictment for violation of the "Espionage" law.

The law was passed as a result of the execution of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg in 1953 under a wartime statute which made espionage punishable by death. Effective since September 1954, it makes espionage in peacetime, as well as in wartime, a capital offense and eliminates the 10-year statute of limitations on espionage.

Woman Gives Birth to Baby in Auto

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UP) — Mrs. Trenton Mills, 21, gave birth to a 4-pound 4-ounce girl yesterday while riding in the family car. Mills, 41, of Burk Burnett, ex-said his wife started labor pains while they were returning home after visiting her father, W. T. Mills at Randlett, Okla.

"I stopped the car, spanked the baby and wrapped her in a bathrobe," he said.

He then drove to Burk Burnett, and police got an ambulance which brought the mother and child to a hospital at Wichita Falls. Both were reported doing fine.

Local Library Now Has Total of 23,835 Books

The 1956 annual report of Hempstead County Library shows that 1240 books were added during the year making a total of 23,835 books in the book collection. The library currently receives 40 magazines and has a collection of 272 filmstrips.

Some 271 books were sent to the three branches at Elyville, Fulton, and Washington. Yergler Branch has 2,000 books in its collection and 200 books were sent to the circulation at Ozark.

The circulation at the branch libraries was 13,408. Circulation from headquarters in Hope was 47,333 making a total of 60,741 books borrowed.

U. S., British Ministers Talk Missiles

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (UP) — The accent appeared to be on missiles today as British Minister of Defense Duncan Sandys and Secretary of Defense Wilson continue a series of talks.

From the discussions could come the first substantial flow of American arms to the United Kingdom since World War II, as well as a sharing of American know-how in production and use of new weapons.

Most American military aid to Britain since World War II has indirect rather than through direct shipments of American arms.

Wilson and Sandys began their talks yesterday, along with their senior civilian experts in the fields of missiles, new weapons and research.

They said the three purposes of the talks were: (1) to exchange views on the military situation, (2) to compare strategic thinking and (3) to explore the possibility of further cooperation in military research and "in other ways."

The first two points apparently raised no difficulties during the six-hour conference yesterday. The main area for discussion and possible agreement concerns weapons, particularly guided missiles and U. S. advances in military electronics.

AIDC Work Is Outlined by W. P. Rock

Work of the Arkansas Industrial Council was the subject of William P. Rock, chairman of the state organization, at last night's annual Chamber of Commerce dinner which was attended by 154 persons.

The five-year-plan AIDC program, designed to bring new industry to Arkansas, has added 17,000 new employees since it started functioning, Mr. Rock declared.

Besides securing new industry the AIDC director pointed to the importance of helping the industries we already have to expand.

George Frazier served as master of ceremonies at the dinner. Retiring C. of C. president Frank King told of accomplishments of the Chamber during the past year and outlined expansions made by local industry.

New C. of C. President, Ray Turner, was introduced and spoke briefly on the 1957 program. Special guests were introduced by Chamber Secretary B. N. Holt.

Jack Ray of Ram Wood Products demonstrated a duck and goose call which his company manufactures here. Mrs. Ed Ogran sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Hendrix Spragins.

Mr. Rock was introduced by Judge James Pilkinton. New directors and officers introduced were:

President Turner, Vice-president Sam Strong, Treasurer Frank Douglas, Manager B. N. Holt and Board Members Leonard Ellis, Harry Collier, Raymond Ponce, Dewey Baber, Terrell Cornelius, Hervey Holt, Bill Routon, Vance Smiley, Roy Thrash, Judge Pilkinton, George Frazier, Jack Lowe and LaGrone Williams.

PRESENT 'SPOOK' AWARDS

NEW YORK (UP) Two New York men were delighted to hear yesterday that they have the qualities of a spook.

"Mankind was my business," the spook says. "The common welfare was my business; charity, mercy, forbearance and benevolence were all my business."

Costly Arkansas Ice Coating Due to Strike Again

By The Associated Press

Rising temperatures brought relief to most areas of northeast and central Arkansas today, after widespread damage and inconvenience in the state's worst ice storm of the past 20 years.

But the respite may be only temporary.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock has forecast a slump in temperatures late today and freezing rain or snow, particularly in north Arkansas, is predicted for tomorrow.

Estimates of damage from the storm ran into millions of dollars. Most of the damage was caused by ice-heavy trees and branches crashing into power and telephone lines.

Only four deaths were attributable to the storm, although ice-gouges in many areas for miles that 48 hours after the storm began Saturday night.

Jonesboro in northeast Arkansas was one of the hardest hit cities. Fallen trees and branches mingled with power and telephone lines in a vast sweep of debris.

Many trees that remained standing were stripped of their tops and numerous power poles leaned at crazy angles. Dozens of power poles fell along highways leading into the ice-coated city.

Here is a breakdown of some of the damage caused since the storm began.

DEATHS: Homer Ford, 72-year-old district superintendent for the Employment Security Division, suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday when he slipped and fell on ice at Paragould. Three teenagers were killed in a car-truck collision on an icy overpass near Blytheville late Saturday night.

POWER LINES: About 7,000 homes were darkened at Little Rock and North Little Rock Sunday and all repairs had not been completed late night. Power also was disrupted Sunday at Hot Springs, Jonesboro, Batesville, Fayetteville, Blytheville and numerous smaller towns. Yesterday blackouts occurred at Blytheville, Searcy, Paragould, Batesville, Bald Knob and several small towns. Arkansas Power & Light Co. brought in extra crews from Missouri in Oklahoma to help repair damage.

Texas GOPs to Fight for Senate Seat

By JERRY MARTIN

DALLAS (UP) — Republicans geared today for an all-out effort to win the special U. S. Senate election in Texas that could mean the GOP capturing control of the Senate from the Democrats.

But a bill that could help insure a Democratic victory has passed its first hurdle by a bare margin in the State House of Representatives.

President Eisenhower yesterday gave his official backing to Atty. Thad Hutcheson of Houston, the lone Republican candidate in the field. He is running for the seat vacated by Price Daniel when he assumed the governorship earlier this month.

The special election will be April 9.

Former Gov. Allan Shivers appointed William Blakley, an Eisenhower Democrat from Dallas, to serve as interim senator. Blakley is voting with the Democrats in the Senate.

The President received Hutcheson in Washington and afterwards issued a statement through press secretary Murray Snyder favoring his candidacy.

Dulles Has No Intention of Resigning Post

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have no intention of resigning despite mounting attacks by some congressional foes on his handling of foreign policy.

Associates said today he has been somewhat surprised and stung by the sudden fury of Democratic assaults on him the past week during Senate hearings on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution, but is nevertheless confident he can weather the storm.

He believes he has Eisenhower's continued backing and confidence, they said, as well as that of top Republican leaders in Congress. Some of these already have spoken up in his defense.

Leading in the criticism have been Senators Fulbright (D-Ark.), Morse (D-Ore.) and Humphrey (D-Min.).

Despite verbal battering, the secretary, who underwent a major cancer operation less than three months ago, has suffered no apparent physical ill effects. He believes he has enough stamina to continue to direct the nation's foreign policy.

Two highly unpredictable factors could upset his determination to stay on: a breakdown in his health and a possible future Eisenhower decision he has become so controversial as to become a major political liability. Neither is now anticipated.

Eisenhower's continued confidence in Dulles may rest heavily on the Secretary's ability to patch up strained relations with Senate Democrats who accused him of avoiding direct replies as they questioned him.

Newly named Undersecretary of State Christian Herter, former Republican governor of Massachusetts, is viewed by most informed officials as a likely successor to Dulles if he were to step aside.

Herter would need a "break in" period of some six months in order to handle the job, most informants acknowledge.

BIG MOUTH COSTS

UN to Put Aside Middle East Debate

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) The U. N. General Assembly moved today to put its heated Middle East debate on ice for several days while delegates sought some solution to the Israel-Egyptian deadlock.

Informed sources said the 80-nation Assembly planned to sidetrack the discussion after Russia and several Arab states have their say. The Russians were expected to press demands that Israel get out of Egypt and to oppose any plan to widen the scope of the U. N. Emergency Force.

Several British Commonwealth nations were reported seeking support for a plan to bolster Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's efforts to get Israeli troops out of Egypt and broaden the duties of the U. N. Force.

The plan gained impetus when the United States threw its support behind Hammarskjöld's efforts as spelled out in his detailed report.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., did not offer any resolution mapping out these moves. But informed diplomats said he has been discussing such a proposal with Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and others.

The plan would call again on the Israelis to pull back to the 1948 armistice line. It would authorize Hammarskjöld to station UNEF troops on both the Israeli and Egyptian sides of the armistice line from the Gaza Strip around to the Gulf of Aqaba.

It would also call for sending U. N. units to the Sharm el Sheikh area along the gulf to act as truce observers. They would try to ensure freedom of Israeli shipping through the gulf.

All this would need the consent of both Israel and Egypt — a formidable obstacle.

Outlining Israel's views before the Assembly, Ambassador Abba Eban declared his government seeks no Egyptian territory. But unless direct contact can be established between Israel and Egypt, the Assembly faces another deadlock, he warned.

Several Arab states launched the latest Middle East debate with demands that the Assembly get tough with Israel for not pulling back to the 1948 line.

The Sudan called for condemnation. Jordan went further, urging that Israel be thrown out of the U. N.

A split in the Asian-African group became evident, however, when Ceylon urged dispassionate examination of the situation. Ceylonese Delegate R.S.S. Gunewardene said mutual recriminations would do no good. Israel must first pull back, he declared, and then the time would be ripe for discussing a settlement.

Protests Fail to Change Committee

LITTLE ROCK (UP) Gov. Orval Faubus' entire tax package, designed to raise around 22 million extra dollars a year, got a "do pass" recommendation from the Senate Revenue and taxation Committee last night.

Several hours earlier the House had rejected — but not finally — a counter measure to the governor's proposal for an increase in the sales tax, the chief item in his money raising plan.

The House bill would broaden application of the present 2 percent sales tax. Faubus' bill, which along with his other proposals was introduced in the Senate, would boost the tax to 3 percent but would not extend the levy to items and services not now covered.

Although once defeated, the tax extension bill is not dead. Proponents kept it alive for reconsideration through parliamentary maneuver.

The Faubus tax bills have been made a special order of business in the Senate for tomorrow.

If they pass in the Senate — and preliminary moves have indicated the administration can muster the strength to get them through they will go to the House, where a real battle is in prospect.

Faubus says the proposed sales tax increase would mean around 16 millions more for schools, welfare and other agencies and services. Other administration bills call for an estimated 5 millions more through lowering of personal income tax exemptions and an estimated 1 million more through increases in severance taxes charged for removal of bauxite, crude oil, natural gas and coal.

The House bill to extend the present sales tax, needing 51 votes to pass, got only 40 "ayes" when yesterday afternoon's roll call was taken. Forty-four representatives voted against it. Other representatives were absent or not voting.

The opposition failed to get adoption of "clinchers" which would have prevented possible reconsideration of the bill.

The bill's proponents remained in their seats when a standing vote was taken. Since the less than 50 opponents were the only ones counted, Speaker Glen F. Walther of Pulaski County was forced to declare technical absence of a quorum and resulting failure of the clincher.

Formal notice was served that reconsideration would be shry.

Rep. Jon P. Bettel of Prairie County, author of the bill, was joined in floor support of the measure by Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County.

Van Dalsem estimated the bill would raise 18 millions a year in new money and said he did not understand how anyone could oppose the measure and still favor an increased tax rate.

Leading the opposition, Rep. Clayton Little of Benton County declared the bill was designed to "hamper obstruct" the Faubus tax program.

The bill would place the sales tax for the first time on such items and services as advertising signs, automobile repairs, hair cutting and others. A number of exemptions would be removed, including that for poultry and livestock feed approved in 1955 with Faubus' support.

Slowdown For Dulles

Washington insiders say Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may start to take things easier soon. Even since his operation for cancer, he has kept up the fast pace he set for himself when he took office. But now his intimates are urging him to delegate to his associates some of the many chores he has insisted on handling personally. Especially, they want him to stop making so many exhausting flights to far parts of the world. Dulles will be 69 on February 28.

Pole To Pole

Don't be surprised if the Russians attempt a round-the-world flight—by way of the North, and South Poles—to match last week's non-stop world flight by American Air Force planes. London experts say they can do it with their four-engine jet bombers. The Bisons are miles or more. They could be refueled by tanker planes based on friendly countries and in the Antarctic, where a Soviet scientific mission is stationed.

Kadar's Little Woman

Private advances in Vienna say that Maria Kadar, wife of puppet Premier Janos Kadar, is running the Hungarian official news agency. As chief of personnel, she was the real power in the agency before the October revolt. Most of the "journalists" she hired were secret police agents. Now she's reported back, and conducting a big purge of employees hired while she was out.

Trimming

American army commanders in Germany have started to plan the trimming down of their five divisions to the "Pentomic" size approved by the War Department. Details are secret. But inside sources say "bad actors" and general trouble-makers will be shipped home, along with draftees whose terms are nearing the end.

Inside Monaco

Word comes from Monte Carlo that even hardened newsmen blushed at the intimate details they received on the birth of Princess Grace's baby. FAYETTEVILLE. — (UP) — The University of Arkansas opened three dormitories Saturday night to a hundred or more persons from five states who were marooned here because of the ice highways. They came to Fayetteville to attend the mid-year commencement exercises Saturday.

Some couples and single women were housed in Carnall and Davis Halls, and the men were put in Razorback Hall.

The Student Union prepared light breakfast and a noon meal for the visitors, who left shortly after noon when the highways cleared. The halls were kept on standby basis, however, in case the visitors could not get far from here and wanted to return and spend Sunday night.

Nixon Seems Confident, Buys a House

WASHINGTON (AP) Vice President Nixon says any official residence Congress may authorize for incumbents of his office should be "made available to whoever is inaugurated as vice president in January 1961."

Nixon said he is buying a six-bedroom home in northwest Washington. He did not disclose the purchase price, but it was reported to be $75,000. Nixon now owns a smaller home in the same area.

In his budget message, Eisenhower recommended that the government acquire an "official home for vice presidents."

The vice president wrote Rep. Weinwright (R-N.Y.), author of a bill to authorize construction of such a residence. Nixon said the bill should specify a home for the next vice president "so that there would be no question but that the Congress is providing such a residence for the next vice president."

Nixon pledged his "unqualified support" for a bill along these lines.

He really been ruling the country since Haakon suffered a thigh fracture in June, 1955. A report that the king would step down in Olav's favor was denied officially when it was published Saturday. But it looks as if the report was put out as a trial balloon to test public sentiment.

Aloha! President Eisenhower has asked Congress again to grant statehood to Hawaii. If it does so, Washington says, the President is a sure bet to go to Honolulu for the statehood ceremony.

Sports Outlook Mickey Mantle and Don Larsen, the Yankees' World Series heroes, promise to give the world champions their biggest contract-signing headache since the days of fabulous Babe Ruth. Mantle is asking $60,000. He has sent back the Yankees' first offer of $37,500, which would give him a $5,000 raise over last year. Larsen, who pitched the World Series' perfect game, wants $27,500. He has said he will quit baseball rather than accept the Yankees' first offer of $15,000. Both Mantle and Larsen seem determined to hold out until they get what they regard as a reasonable compromise between the Yankees' offer and their demands.

El Dorado Man Critically Hurt

SMACKOVER, Mo. — An El Dorado man was wounded critically and his companion killed last night after a father and his son surprised the two at an oil field casing head near here, Sheriff Grover Linebarrier said today.

Hospitalized at El Dorado was Wilbur Head, 26, Sheriff Linebarrier said he was holding Don Shirley, 17, of near El Dorado in jail at Camden.

Linebarrier said Billy Bryant, 24, and his father, H. A. Bryant, told him they found two men taking "casing head drip," an oil well by-product that can be used as motor fuel, from their lease near here.

The sheriff said the younger Bryant told him he fired a rifle at the two men attempted to drive away in their car. Bryant said he had hoped to stop them by hitting the gasoline tank or a tire.

Linebarrier said Shirley stopped at a nearby house and called an ambulance when he realized Head had been wounded. Head had been

Registration Is Delayed at UA

FAYETTEVILLE. — (UP) — University officials have postponed spring semester registration, scheduled for today, until Tuesday.

Dr. Louis Rohrbaugh, provost, made the announcement yesterday when roads in the vicinity of Fayetteville were ice and closed or dangerous to travel. He told students to remain at their homes until Tuesday or until the highways had cleared.

El Dorado Man Critically Hurt

SMACKOVER, Mo. — An El Dorado man was wounded critically and his companion killed last night after a father and his son surprised the two at an oil field casing head near here, Sheriff Grover Linebarrier said today.

Hospitalized at El Dorado was Wilbur Head, 26, Sheriff Linebarrier said he was holding Don Shirley, 17, of near El Dorado in jail at Camden.

Linebarrier said Billy Bryant, 24, and his father, H. A. Bryant, told him they found two men taking "casing head drip," an oil well by-product that can be used as motor fuel, from their lease near here.

The sheriff said the younger Bryant told him he fired a rifle at the two men attempted to drive away in their car. Bryant said he had hoped to stop them by hitting the gasoline tank or a tire.

Linebarrier said Shirley stopped at a nearby house and called an ambulance when he realized Head had been wounded. Head had been

Explosion in Store Leaves Four Dead

ROSELLE, Ill. — An explosion in a hardware store today killed at least four persons and "possibly more," a deputy coroner reported.

At least eight persons were reported injured and were taken to hospitals in nearby Elgin and Elmhurst.

Authorities said the explosion may have been caused by gas. A Northern Illinois Gas Co. truck across the street and two gas company men were parked in front of the store reported inside at the time of the blast.

The store is operated by Herbert C. Gieske.

Gieske's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gieske, reside on the second floor above the store. Mrs. Gieske was reported blown out of the building, Richard said.

William Lindemann of Dundee, who was lunching in a restaurant across the street, was injured when restaurant windows were blown out by the blast.

Roselle is a town of about 1,000 population in Dupage County, between Chicago and Elgin.

Arkansas has been under four flags, Spanish, French, Confederate, and American.

struck in the back. The Bryants were not held.

Search for Negro Man Called Off

EL DORADO. — Authorities have called off a search for an 88-year-old Negro missing since last Wednesday in a wooded area near El Dorado.

As many as 60 or 80 searchers at a time combed the area for West Turner, who entered the woods to collect pine knots for kindling.

Sheriff O. E. Bishop said last night he doubted West could have survived four days under the adverse weather conditions.

Entertained in Glanton Home For Mrs. Tillery

Wednesday evening, January 23, in the home of Mrs. Fred Glanton, Circle 5 of the W. S. C. S. of the First Methodist Church entertained with a surprise party honoring Mrs. Claude Tillery, who is moving to Dallas in February.

Mrs. Tillery, escorted by her husband, entered the Glanton home blindfolded and was greeted by the group singing "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain." Removing the blindfold, Mrs. W. M. Reinhardt, the newly elected circle chairman, presented Mrs. Tillery with a beautiful pink Camellia corsage.

Mrs. Henry Seamon, using a large map of the four states area, directed several games that were designed to help Mrs. Tillery pack and select the route to travel on her move to Dallas.

A "This is Your Life" story was read by Mrs. Reinhardt giving in detail the achievements of Mrs. Tillery during her sojourn in Hope. These included P. T. A., civic, and to specify in the sales tax bill that 80 per cent of the additional revenue would be earmarked for classroom teachers. Bearden and others said this was accomplished in the stabilization bill measure that sets out where the money is to be spent — and had been the established formula since 1945.

The committee reached its decision in executive session after the lengthy open debate before a crowd that seemed to be composed of an equal number of pros and cons.

The opposition speakers — most of them merchants who live within buying range of sales tax — free Texas — directed their fire at the sales tax. Some favored leaving the tax at 2 per cent and extending it to all goods and services; others said the property re-assessment program begun in 1953 eventually would produce the needed revenue.

Alex Washburn, publisher of the Hope Star who led an unsuccessful fight to get the feed sales tax exemption referred to a popular vote, said he was ready to try the same thing with the 3 per cent sales tax if that measure passes.

Washburn pointed out he was one of the original advocates of the 2 per cent tax and had campaigned for its adoption in 1935.

He said that if the sales tax increase becomes law, "You are placing a 3 per cent differential on all the necessities of life in south-west Arkansas."

El Dorado Alderman Joe Templeton declared the "committee has already made up its mind. This is just to let us blow off steam. However, I am grateful for the privilege."

Those favoring the Faubus program generally stuck to one theme: The money is needed desperately, they said, for teachers' salaries, the state hospital for nervous diseases, welfare, the proposed Children's Colony and other state services.

Russellville attorney John Nye said, "I have found that 74 of the 75 counties in the state will receive more money than will be collected in that county as a result of increasing the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent."

He said this was possible because the 22-million-dollar tax increase would enable the state to receive an additional 15 millions in federal matching funds.

Herbert Evan of Ashdown and Ralph Lehman of Hope both said the re-assessment program would produce the needed revenue eventually, and the increase emphasis on state taxes would tend to decrease local interest in the re-assessment program.

Carl Malloy of Walnut Ridge, who said he represented 200 hope were merchants, declared the proposed tax program was "another pork barrel."

"They have had the highway pork barrel taken away; the game and fish pork barrel taken away; and now they are trying to create another one in a vulnerable spot — our schools," Malloy said.

"They cry about our poor people . . . our school children . . . but they would chop off the head of a child for a $100 booby."

Plane Crash Lands, 13 Aboard Escape

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An Air Force cargo plane carrying 12 crew members and a soldier passenger on emergency leave caught fire shortly after takeoff from Elmendorf Air Force Base here last night and crash landed on the ice-bound waters of Cook Inlet.

None of the 13 aboard was seriously injured, they were hoisted to safety within 10 minutes after the crash by helicopters.

The C-124 Globemaster took off from Elmendorf at 8:08 p. m. en route to McChord AFB near Tacoma, Wash. A few minutes later one engine caught fire and the pilot, Cpt. Theodore Testy, attempted to return to the base but was forced down only a couple of miles from the strip.

A military spokesman said the big craft came to rest on the ice about 20 yards from shore.

The Globemaster, under operation of the Strategic Air Command, was based at Biggs AFB in El Paso, Tex. All the crew members were listed as being from Biggs.

The Air Force identified the other crew members as: Capt. Harry A. Schwabe, commander; Capt. William Stapleton; Lt. James McNair; Lt. Paul Magrant; Sgt. Henry Nickell; Sgt. Raymond Decker; Sgt. Raymond L. West; Sgt. William Colwell; Sgt. Donley J. Miller; Airman Franklin Dennis and Airman Norris Cothron.

The men were taken to the Elmendorf hospital for observation and all except Colwell, Miller and Dennis were released. Those three were listed in good condition.

RED-FACED OFFICER
ATLANTA (AP) — Dekalb County patrolman C. T. Brooks reported to Atlanta city police that some body broke into his car Saturday night while it was parked in Atlanta and stole a 357 caliber pistol, holster and belt, handcuffs and blackjacks.

Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. George Humphrey's estate at Thomasville, Ga. is called "Milestone Plantation" after the milestone they placed at its gate on their 25th wedding anniversary.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife's Jealousy Is Costing Her Money!

Dear Dorothy Dix: The job I have doesn't pay very well, and I want more than anything else to get a home for my wife and baby. I've been offered an evening job, which would pay enough to buy some things we want, and might eventually lead to a fulltime, well-paying position.

However, my wife insists the only reason I want to take the job is to get away from her. She's imagining all sorts of things. How can I convince her that I'm doing this for her?

CHARLTON
Dear Charlton: Your wife should be able to understand simple finance. Go over the budget, tell her how much you'll be able to make and save under the new regime, and ask how in the world you could be doing something you shouldn't, and make money? The sort of action she suspects usually costs, and plenty!

Offer her the alternative of a nice home and luxuries, with this small sacrifice on her part, or a continuance of your present life of penny-pinching with you under her eye every minute.

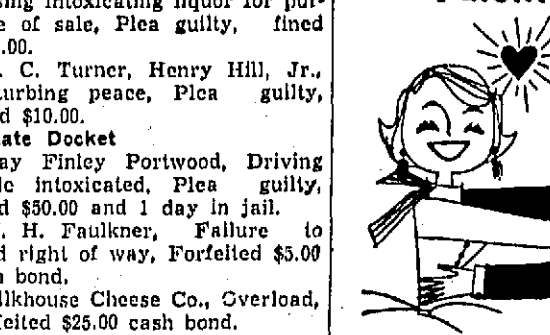

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm an attractive girl of 18. I was going steady for about nine months, but broke up because my boy friend was cheating on me. Since then I have been very unpopular. I never get a date. Since I've been sitting home I've made life miserable for myself and the family.

DISAGREEABLE
Dear Disagreeable: Folks who would like to be nice to you must break the door down, then break through the wall of sullenness you've built around you. Now, who wants to go through all that? And why expect anyone to take the trouble?

You are being very childish to let one romantic upset ruin your life — and at 18! Come on, now. Put on a smile, dress up and mingle with the crowd!

Dear Dorothy Dix: For years

ACTOR WEDS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Honey-mooning today are actor Dick Long, 29, and starlet Mara Corday, 27. Long's first wife was actress Suzan Ball, who died in 1955 of cancer after they had been married 16 months. It was Miss Corday's first marriage.

I've been madly in love with an attractive woman who's been everything I could want. She used to be sweet and nice to me, but lately she's changed, becoming very moody. What could be bothering her?

Dear Mike: I wonder! And what's the matter with you? You could easily restore her sweet disposition by saying, "I love you; will you marry me!" How dense can you get, Michael?

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 20 years old and engaged to a widower of 25, who has two small children.

My parents think I will be taking on too much responsibility. I disagree. Tom and I have many things in common, including religion, and I adore his children. The youngsters take to me and everything seems fine from my angle.

ALICIA
Dear Alicia: If you thoroughly realize how much the care of two children entails, and are willing to make sacrifices along the way, your marriage can be happy. A stepmother doesn't have an easy job, even with the best co-operation, but she has a rewarding one.

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.

Venturi Will Embark on Golf Comeback

By HAL WOOD

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UP)— Young Ken Venturi, rated by such an astute judge of golf as Byron Nelson as the finest prospect to come along in the post-war era, will embark on the golf trail right after the Masters Tournament in quest of the dollar.
But before he starts cashing in on one of the finest swings in the game, the 23-year-old San Franciscan will have quite a bit to learn, in the opinion of other golfers.

"The first thing he'll have to do on the tournament trail is to learn to forget a bad hole or a bad round," says big Mike Souchak, who turned professional four years ago at the same age as Ken.

"The second is to learn to put four good rounds together and then win his first tournament. Until that time, he'll never be sure in his own mind that he is a championship golfer.

Venturi looks great. I'll admit that. But he never has won a big tournament.
Ken is starting out full of confidence. He isn't the cocky kid who nearly won the Masters last year.
And he's not the "pop-off" guy who made such good copy for sports writers a year ago. But he still has one of the finest swings in all of golfdom.

"I'm going to play in the Phoenix Open this week-end," says Ken, "then I'm going back to San Francisco and practice until the Masters."

"I'll be eligible to collect money in PGA-sponsored tournaments on May 28, and so I'll join the tour right after the Masters."

Venturi was a three-day sensation in the Masters last year — leading until the final day. Then he shot a morale-shattering 81 on the final round and lost to Jackie Burke.

Ken has purchased a new station wagon and along with his wife, Connie, and their baby, they'll join the Nomadic troupe that follows the sun from month to month.

Observers along the golf trail who see Ken for the first time will note a striking facial resemblance to National Open champion Dr.
Cary Middlecoff. The two walk alike and they have near-identical swings.

But Venturi, of course, still has to prove that he has what it takes to make a champion.

Demaret Wins the Thunderbird Open

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UP)—
The winter golfing trail winds on to Arizona today with Jimmy De-maret, the hero of the moment, returning to Phoenix and the scene of two past triumphs.

The popular Demaret, who admits and insists he is only 44, demonstrated that whatever his age he can still teach the youngsters how to use a set of clubs.

Jimmy, Klamath Lake, N. J.,
pro. gave a couple of young men,
Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. J., and Ken Venturi, 23-year-old heir to the pro from San Francisco, a lesson yesterday.

Playing off the tie of the $15,000
Thunderbird Invitational, Demaret defeated Mike by 8 strokes and Venturi by 9 as he toured Thunderbird's par 35-37 course in 32:35-67.

North Carolina Still Rated Tops and SMU 6th

By The Associated Press

A week of idleness for both teams brought no change in the race between North Carolina and Kansas for top ranking in college basketball, but a single game was costly to Iowa State's hopes.

The eighth weekly Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters again found North Carolina's Tar Heels far out-ahead of Kansas, which has held the lead up to last week. Unbeaten Carolina dropped its first game of the season to Iowa State.

Iowa State's 69-66 loss to Missouri sent it tumbling from third place to eighth. Louisville's Cardinals, who edged out Dayton 57-56
in their only game of the week,
moved up to third.

North Carolina got 62 of a possible 88 first-place votes and a total of 824 points on the basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. Kansas drew 8 firsts and 715 points.

Kentucky, a 91-83 winner over Vanderbilt, moved up to fourth, and Illinois, which whipped Notre Dame 99-81, went up from ninth to seventh. Seattle slid back one notch to ninth.

Southern Methodist stayed in sixth. UCLA took over fifth place by a margin of three points over the Mustangs.

Bradley barely held its 10th position by a two-point margin over Ohio State.
The top 10, with first-place votes
in parentheses:

1. North Carolina (62) 824
2. Kansas (8) 715
3. Louisville (1) 462
4. Kentucky (2) 440
5. UCLA (2) 318
6. SMU (1) 285
7. Illinois 235
8. Iowa State 210
9. Seattle (4) 210
10. Bradley (3) 185

The second 10, in order:
Ohio State, Canisius, Wake Forest, Tulane, California, Oklahoma City, Idaho State, West Virginia,
Duke and Oklahoma A&M.

Wertz, Polio Victim, Gets Baseball Award

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (UP) Vic Wertz, who says he still feels a little pain now and then to remind him of the polio attack which almost ended his baseball career, was honored last night as the Most Courageous Athlete of 1956.

The Philadelphia Sports Writers Association presented Wertz with its unique award. The group also feted Milt Campbell, Olympic decathlon champion, as the outstanding athlete of last year, and Jerry Tubbs of the unbeaten Oklahoma Sooners football team as the top lineman of 1956.

Wertz, a native of York, Pa., accepted the award by telling the 1,200 diners — they gave him a standing ovation — that "someone bigger than all of us figured in this more than I did." He was the tenth major league ball player to be so honored since the award first was instituted in 1935.

Ashdown Boys, Girls Play Hope Teams Here

Tonight at 7 o'clock in Jones Field

House the Senior boys and girls teams of Ashdown will furnish opposition for local teams.
Ashdown's girls boast one of the best teams in the state, having lost by a single point in the Joe T. Robinson tournament finals at Little Rock over the weekend. Thus the Panthettes are favored over the local laddies.

And the boys game should prove equally as interesting. Only a couple of weeks ago at Ashdown the Panthettes were edged by the Bobcats by a single point in a game that went into an overtime. So it should be close, tonight.

Wednesday night Southern State College will play the Texarkana
Junior College team here and on Friday night DeQueen, always tough for the Bobcats, will bring a couple of teams to the local court.

Some Think Dulles Should Resign Post

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Some Democrats were suggesting today that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles resign for what they termed his mishandling of the Middle East problem.

Freshman Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) made an outright demand that Dulles give up his post on grounds that he has "lost the confidence of our Allies" and Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), both members of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee, hinted indirectly that they also want Dulles to quit. Dulles went back before the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees today for more questioning—this time in secret on the "Eisenhower doctrine" for protecting the Middle East from communism.

He was subjected to a blistering Democratic attack on his handling of the Middle East situation during four days of public testimony last week.

The committees also planned to act on Fulbright's demand that the Senate conduct a sweeping review of administration foreign policy before voting on the Presi-

Arkansas Native Killed in Philippines

MANILA—Philip J. Watts, 38, American president of a Philippine lumber company, was ambushed and killed early today on Mindanao Island.

Watts was driving a jeep toward his logging camp near Ipil, southwest Mindanao, when unidentified persons opened fire. He was able to drive on about half a mile before he died. Two companions with him escaped unhurt.

A representative of Watts' company said he could not explain the attack since Watts was one of the most popular Americans in the area.

A native of Pleasant Plains, Ark., he is survived by his wife and five children.

dnt's request to use money and troops, if necessary, to protect the Middle East from Communist aggression.

Fulbright conceded in advance of the committee session that he would lose his fight to force such a review prior to action on Mr. Eisenhower's Middle East plan. But he predicted he would succeed in getting such an inquiry later.

The administration turned on the pressure to prevent the foreign policy inquiry. Senators were being told that such a review might cause a new breach in U.S. relations with Britain and France when it touched on those nation's Suez attack and U. S. opposition to it.

Feels Herter Would Have Helped GOP

WASHINGTON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen says he still feels that Republicans would have fared better last fall if Christian A. Herter had been the GOP vice-presidential candidate.

Stassen was questioned on a television program about his unsuccessful drive last summer to replace Vice President Nixon on the Republican ticket with Herter, then governor of Massachusetts and now nominee for undersecretary of state.

When Herter disavowed Stassen's campaign, Stassen finally gave up and seconded Nixon's nomination.

On another matter, Stassen said, "The United States is endeavoring to develop a small nuclear bomb without a fall-out of any consequence that is capable of being used to stop big, bad bombs from hitting the free world, including the United States."

He added that if American scientists can develop that kind of a bomb "then by that process we brighten the prospect that a third world war won't come." Thus, he said, U. S. tests of nuclear weapons must continue.

BUFFALO GRASS

By Frank Gruber

Joe Jagers and Chad Morgan came upon a settlement that bore the name of Prairie Dog.

THE STORY: After the close of the Civil War, two Union cavalrymen capture $5,000 in Confederate gold that General Selby was taking with him into Mexico. The soldiers, Chad Morgan and Joe Jagger, take the money and plan to use it "to make a million dollars." Two years later they visit the St. Louis offices of a railroad building across Kansas. Jagger's sister Helen is working in the office.

Chapter II

The door to a private office opened and a heavy-set man in a Prince Albert with a florid vest appeared. "Miss Jagger," he said, "if you'll come in..."

"Oh, Mr. Foss," exclaimed Helen Jagger. "This is my brother Joseph, and his partner, Mr. Morgan. You have a n appointment with them."

For a moment Nathan Foss's face was blank. Then he grimaced. "Oh, yes, the Texas cattle scheme."

"I'm the man you've been waiting for," declared Joe Jagger. "The man who's going to save your railroad for you. Once you hear my proposition, you'll cancel every other appointment you've got this week."

Foss fixed Jagger with a doubtful look. "Frankly, Mr. Jagger, I'm in no mood for evil..."

"Joe and his partner," Helen Jagger said eagerly, "have $25,000 in gold!"

A strange new light came into Nathan Foss's eyes. "Come in, Mr. Jagger, come in. And you, too, Mr. Morgan."

The two ex-cavarymen followed Nathan Foss into his private office, a fine paneled room that had impressed many a prospective investor in railroad shares.

Foss seated himself behind a huge desk, waited until his visitor, Madagascar, off the east coast of Africa has been French island colony since 1896.

lors had found chairs, then formed an inverted V of his hands by pacing the thumbs and finger tips together.

"Gentlemen," he began, "railroad stocks today are the soundest of investments. I can promise you, may, I can virtually guarantee you, a profit of 10 per cent on your money."

"Whom, wait a minute!" interrupted Joe Jagger. "I guarantee you 100 per cent—and more, Mr. Foss!"

A spot of red appeared on each of Nathan Foss's cheeks. It grew as Joe Jagger hurried on. "You've got 40 miles of track and you've had to shut down work until you can raise some more money. Oh, you'll probably be able to build a few more miles of track. But what's the use? There's nothing past Lawrence, nothing but prairie dogs. And they won't be shipping any freight."

"Neither will you," retorted the railroad man. "This hairbrained scheme your sister's told me about..."

"It's no scheme, Mr. Foss. We've got the pan a worked out and we've got the money for it. We're going to build a town out there, on your railroad. This town's going to have stores, a hotel, stockyards..."

"Stockyards!" snorted Foss. "Stockyards on the prairie..."

"Stockyards," repeated Jagger firmly, "built with our money! It won't cost you a cent. A well will in return..."

"You just said it wouldn't cost me a penny!"

"It won't cost you much. I want your crew to build me a half mile of siding to facilitate the loading of the cattle onto the stock cars."

"That's nothing," snapped Foss. "A half a mile of track costs $20,000."

"It'll be the most important investment of your life."

"A right, suppose I said I'd build the siding... what else do you want?"

"Five dollars for every carload of cattle loaded at my loading pens, my stockyards..."

"Five dollars of nothing is still nothing. What else?"

"Land. Some of the drovers may want to fatten up their cattle before being to the buyers."

"The moment you're built your stockyard and—hotel!"

Jagger got up, crossed to the desk, picked up a pen, and dipped it into a well of ink. "Put it in writing."

Foss acquiesced, hesitated, then took the pen.

Little white stakes stuck into the ground stretched out for 50 miles beyond the end of track. Joe Jagger and Chad Morgan followed the stakes to their end and came upon a settlement that bore the name of Prairie Dog.

The place consisted of a sod-covered store that was also the horse relay station for the once-a-month stage line. Some dozen sad shocks were scattered about the landscape.

A man named Artie Puffpuff crawled out of one of the sods. He was incredibly dirty and slick crawled over his patches of skin that showed through the rents in his shirt.

"Mr. Puffpuff," said Jagger, "we'll lay our cards on the table..."

Puffpuff blinked red eyelids. "What cards?"

Jagger made a gesture of dismissal. "You've squatted on a section of land. You've put out some boundary sticks and you may even have some claim to the land. Squatter's rights, perhaps. Whatever they are, I want to buy them from you."

"You want to pay money for my—my homestead?"

Morgan drew a quart bottle of whiskey from his saddlebags. He held it so Puffpuff could get a square look at it. Puffpuff looked—and couldn't return his eyes to Jagger.

"You got hard money on you, Bub?" he whined.

Jagger took a $20 gold piece from his pocket and tossed it into the dust at Puffpuff's feet. "Is that hard enough for you?"

Puffpuff's eyes found the gold in the dirt. He picked it up and then his eyes went again to the bottle of whiskey.

"This is valuable property," he whined.

Morgan took a second bottle of whiskey from his saddlebags. "You can squat on a brand-new piece of land, Puffpuff."

"Twenty dollars and two quarts of whiskey," snapped Jagger. He took a piece of paper and a pencil from his pocket and tossed it to Puffpuff. "Sign!"

in no condition to do any work, but Jagger and Morgan found another squatter who was glad to earn five dollars.

He followed Morgan and Jagger ground wherever he was told.

"This'll be the hotel," declared Jagger, after pacing off the ground. "It's got to be near the depot and stockyards, but it should face Main Street. Mmm, we'll make the street good and wide."

"One street enough?" asked Morgan cheerfully.

"One main street," replied Jagger. "Of course we'll need cross streets. Let's see now, we're going to need lots for business places. We'll figure it out in units of 20 feet. Man needs a bigger place he'll have to buy two 20-foot lots."

They worked their way down "Main Street," then crossed the stakes put out by the surveyors of the railroad and paced off the distances for the stockyards and loading pens, the railroad siding.

Finally, when the area looked like a field of growing sticks, Jagger and Morgan paused to rest near a prairie-dog mound where a prairie dog sat outside his hole watching them.

Jagger frowned at the animal. "Prairie Dog," he said, shaking his head. "That's no good for a town name."

Morgan picked up a chunk of smooth, curved wood. "Here's what's left of an old Indian bow. Might suggest a name..."

Busted Bow, Broken Bow—"Not bad," said Jagger, "for a town name."

small town, but we want something with more size."

"That's a Pawnee bow," volunteered the squatter.

"Pawnee!" exclaimed Jagger. "It's colorful. That's it. Pawnee City."

The tail end of a northerly still sweeping across the flat Texas country and Chad Morgan, hunched over his saddle pommel, cursing the Texan who had told him that there was a village only 18 miles away. He had traveled at least 25.

Then he saw the man ahead of him. Morgan pressed his right elbow to his side. He felt the reassuring hardness of his Navy gun and then knelt his horse into a trot.

Morgan eased his horse so it jogged beside the other one. "It's a bad day to be out," he said. The man looked sideways at Morgan, but merely grunted a reply. He was unshaven and his lean features were weathered and hard. Morgan caught mere glint of his slitted eyes and knew that the man was a hard case.

SWEPT-WING

You watch it sweeping by, this low-slung Swept-Wing Dodge, and you know in an instant that nothing you have ever seen before can compare with it.

"Can this be real?" you ask yourself. "Can a car be so long and low and daring? So brilliantly styled?"

And what you see is matched only by what you'll feel when you actually put this beauty in motion.

The feel of the 310 hp. V-8 as you eat up the road. The feel of Push-Button Torque-Flite that packs a silk-smooth 1-2 punch. The feel of Torsion-Air Ride and Total-Contact Brakes that give you a new mastery of every driving situation.

And just imagine owning this Swept-Wing Dodge. The pride and pleasure you'll experience every time you take the wheel is something that simply can't be measured in dollars and cents.

So stop in at your Dodge dealer's and ask for the keys to a Swept-Wing Dodge. A few minutes behind the wheel will convince you: You have never seen, felt, owned anything like it!
